CSABC – COCA Creation-- Receives Education Leadership Award!

October 31—Vancouver, B.C.—The Construction Safety Association of BC (CSABC) was presented with the Education Leadership Award at the Vancouver Regional Construction Association Awards of Excellence last evening.

The Construction Safety Association of British Columbia (CSABC) is the construction industry's trusted partner in construction safety training. A non-profit organization owned and operated by the construction industry of British Columbia, CSABC builds safety through training, offering a range of safety courses that provides safety training at all levels—owner, manager, supervisor and worker, and includes the Certificate of Recognition Program (COR), a WorkSafeBC incentive rebate program.

A COR CERTIFIED COMPANY CAN EARN UP TO A 15% REBATE ON WorkSafeBC ASSESSMENT PAYMENTS!

In just three and a half years CSABC has trained over 10,000 construction employees and trades students and COR certified over 150 companies.

“Construction is a potentially dangerous business with hundreds of accidents and injuries occurring every year. Many accidents are preventable through awareness and training. CSABC is committed to building an awareness and communicating the importance of safety knowledge,” explains Cathy Lange, CSABC Executive Director.

One of the ways CSABC transfers safety knowledge is through a safety contest which directs participants to read a tool box talk on the WorkSafeBC website. Until December 12, a correct answer will give contestants a chance to win a 2008 Toyota Tundra. “This is a great way to reach construction workers across B.C. with the information they need to stay safe in the workplace.”
